

I KNOW

Every time I look at the morning paper, there on the very front page

Hate and crime, another big scandal, who will it be today

As the prices rise, morals decline and fall to an all-time low

Everything looks bad, it could make me real sad

If it wasn't for the things I know

(chorus)

I know my sins are covered by the blood of the Righteous Lamb

I know that Heaven is waiting and the saints will soon move in

I'm not shaking cause I'm not staying in this world of pain and sin

I know by the signs that are given, I know by what I've been reading

I know by every indication Jesus is coming again

The evening news is now available twenty-four hours a day

It can't be told in thirty short minutes, is there never any unsolved case

But there's another big scene that's waiting in the wings

Soon the headlines will unfold

While the world is frightened I'm so enlightened

By the things in the Book I know

(chorus X2)
